

About the story we read today

For teachers: print one per child to send home in backpacks.

Today we read _____

These are quiet stories about a family of rabbits. Somebody gets something wrong, usually by accident, and the grown-ups sit down beside them instead of raising their voices. Nobody is shamed. Nobody is sent to a corner. What your child comes away with is the feeling that it is safe to say what happened.

If the story stayed with them, there are free things to print at home. Every book has a one page reading guide with a few questions to talk about together and one thing to do afterwards. There are coloring pages of all the friends, and counting and handwriting pages for younger ones. All of it is free. There is nothing to sign up for and no email address to hand over.

The books themselves are paperbacks, and there are Kindle editions too. You can find every one of them at mitzyandfriends.com, or by searching Mitzy and Friends on Amazon.
